

STANDARD PENDANT BARS

INTERNATIONAL

This supplement covers standard pendant gold bars – that are denominated in grams, troy ounces and tolas.

They are issued by gold refiners, whose “good delivery” bars are accepted by one or more of the associations and exchanges in London, New York, Tokyo, Dubai and Istanbul.

The supplement will be expanded over time as more information and photographs become available.

SURVEY

There are three known accredited refiners that manufacture standard pendant bars for the international market: PAMP (Switzerland), Valcambi (Switzerland) and Emirates Gold (UAE).

In total, they issue 56 bars that incorporate “hangers” or “hooks”.

In summary:

- Standard pendant bars are issued in 6 shapes: rectangular, oval, lozenge, colonna, heart and double-pendant.
- The dominant shape is oval (27 bars, 48% of the total).
- Most are denominated in grams (40 bars). In troy ounces (11 bars) and in tolas (5 bars).
- The bars have a decorative design on the reverse side. Those that have not been customized normally incorporate a standard design: Fortuna – the Roman goddess of good fortune (PAMP), rose (Valcambi) and rose (Emirates Gold).

Background

In 1978, Degussa (Germany), no longer active, is recorded as the first among accredited refiners to have issued a minted bar in an unconventional shape (5 g octagonal bar), as well as incorporating a hole to facilitate its use as a pendant.

Since 1984, PAMP (Switzerland) has expanded the concept, pioneering the production of minted pendant bars in a variety of shapes that incorporate “hangers” or “hooks”.

Progressive launch dates of current range:

1984	Rectangular
1984	Oval
1985	Lozenge
1986	Colonna
1994	Heart
1995	Double-pendant

Emirates Gold (UAE) issued its oval range in 1992, while Valcambi (Switzerland) launched its oval range in 2007.

PAMP (Switzerland) issues an extensive range of pendant gold bars: rectangular, oval, lozenge, colonna and heart.

Valcambi (Switzerland) launched an oval range in 2007.

Emirates Gold (UAE) has issued an oval range since 1992.
